

Following the recent discovery of anonymous manuscripts, missing for centuries, the Accademia Vinciana offers a unique glimpse of historic events in the Renaissance, events that the wildest imagination would have had difficulty in creating....

An insanely ambitious and violent family succeeds in arriving at the Papacy, and attempts to gain control of the whole of Italy as its private domain. The political balance of the whole of Europe vacillates.

Will the ingenious strategy of the richest banker and merchant of the time, at the service of one of the most powerful and unscrupulous Popes that the history of the Church has ever seen, succeed in avoiding the siege of his city and in calming the thirst for power, pursued through armed action, intrigue and trickery by an ambitious and bloodthirsty Duke?

An astute diplomat is called on to carry out a spying operation and weave a subtle political plot....

A man of huge artistic genius, Leonardo da Vinci, who is both the ultimate student of all time and a great and expert architect, is called on to organise the entertainment, with a stimulating and astute programme of encounters, giving rise to the most strategic, far-reaching and secret chess match ever conceived....

A brilliant and absorbing masked ball, as an opportunity for subtle and noble diplomacy: games, spectacle, adventure, triumphs and allegories, jousting, duels and challenges....

These are just some of the elements giving rise to the most mysterious of academies, recalling an even older and more famous school of greek philosophers....

Now you are invited to that historic masked ball:
Everyone is called on to bring their own mask.

The celebrations to which you are invited are inspired and reconstructed on the basis of the events taking place in the woods and valleys not far from Siena, one night early in summer 1502.

A journey begins, in which history and geography interweave: from the creation of the world to Jerusalem in the year 33, to Rome, to then look back towards Athens and even further to ancient Egypt.

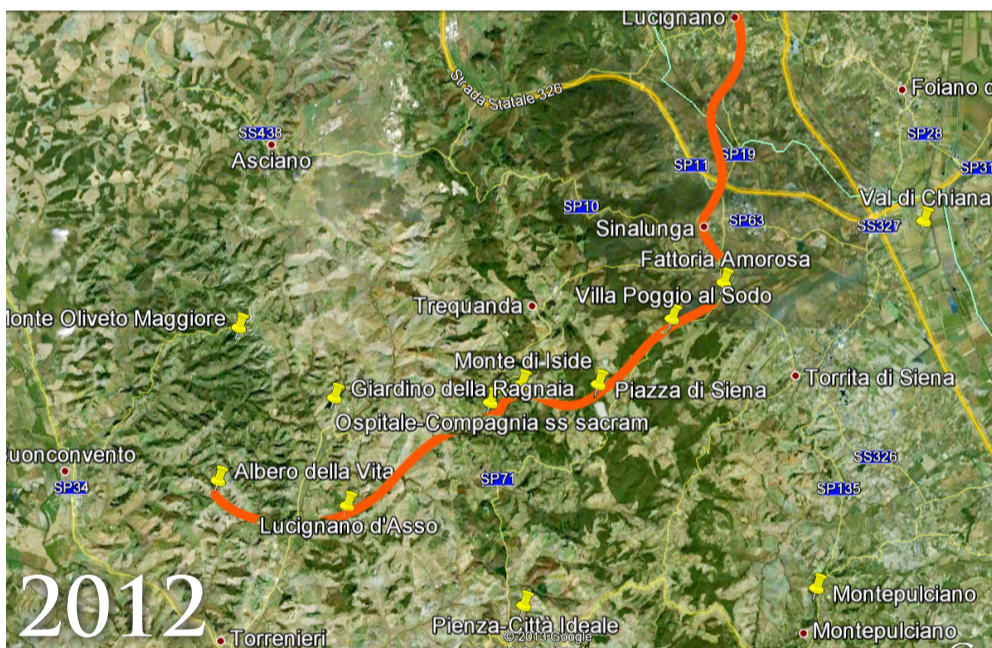

We are guided symbolically by the Metamorphoses (the Golden Ass) by Apuleius: like Lucius (Lucignano), remaining an ass for a long time (Asinalonga) we are searching for the mountain of Isis in order to find new light (Lucignano d'Asso).

(The names represent real places in the Tuscan countryside). It is also an opportunity to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the discovery of other unknown lands beyond the ocean, and the imagination of another world, outside known history, allows us to dream of new faces, new animals and plants, new cities, temples and buildings, new languages, foreign coins, tools and objects and works. What will the ships of our intellect gather when travelling across this unknown ocean of ideas from the New World? The celebrations take place over three days, in different villages and villas. On Saturday evening the host is Agostino Chigi, an emerging banker and entrepreneur from Siena, illuminated lover of art and culture. He has invited a number of families from the city, the Petrucci, Saracini, Piccolomini and Contucci families, while the guest of the evening will be the new Duke Cesare Borgia il Valentino, accompanied by his personal guard, arriving on horseback from the marshes of the Chiana area, invited and accompanied by Niccolò Machiavelli, who brings the greetings of the Florentine Republic. Chigi has also charged certain illustrious friends with preparing special theatrical sets and performances: Luca Signorelli, Bernardino di Betto, known as Pinturicchio, and some of his pupils, including Rafael, a young painter from Urbino and Antonio Bazzi, known as Sodoma. Baldassarre Peruzzi, Francesco di Giorgio Martini and Bramante are also illustrious architects. These same architects and painters are the actors, wearing their own masks: it is a question of guessing who they are impersonating from the dialogue.

One should not forget Egidio da Viterbo, theologian and philosopher, Tommaso Inghirami, man of letters and humanist, Alberto Aringhieri, Rector of the Opera del Duomo in Siena, and many others. However, it will be above all a mysterious figure, a military engineer and mapmaker, whose face is unknown in Siena but whose name is recognised, who will entertain the guests with games and wonders. With his riddles, rebuses, aphorisms and questions he challenges everyone to participate in games and wagers: solving the enigma in order to lift the veil of Isis, becoming the first disciple of all-embracing Mother Nature, enveloping all imaginary and possible worlds. These figures begin to distribute the Word Cards. Each person is called on to solve the Enigma. After answering the initial question, we move on to chess matches, rebuses, riddles, stories, aphorisms, letters, drawings, maps, globes, both ancient and new, with constellations of words. To enter this dream the mysterious creator and wizard invites us to the desks of the Scholè that he has prepared.

Now this game reappears in our times, having reconstructed the path and identified the places, awaiting new courageous players who wish to participate in the celebrations of the illustrious protagonists of the Renaissance. The valleys, villages, woods and Leonardo's villa in Valdichiana are still there, waiting to welcome those who intend to discover the path that points towards the West, going back in time to dream, devise and create the New World of the future.

It awaits courageous students who wish to win the keys to the historic room, commonly known as the Stanza della Segnatura, carefully guarded by the protagonists of this story themselves, who keep eternally open the Scholè known to history as the School of Athens, evoked by them and created in that night of dreams.
